An effective new nutritional solution to a dangerous, destructive habit

24% of all horses are wood chewers. It affects all ages -- from young foals on up. Chewing is not only destructive to fences and stalls, but can damage a horse's mouth and even lead to colic.

A main cause of chewing is a lack of nutrients

Research indicates one of the main reasons horses chew wood is a nutritional deficiency. New Quitt™ provides a combination of essential vitamins, micro and macro minerals and fatty acids to satisfy a horse's nutritional requirements and eliminate the urge to chew.

Guaranteed to work or your money back

In studies, over 90% of horses fed Quitt stopped chewing within a week. Farnam guarantees Quitt will stop your horse from chewing, too – or your money back.

Quitt will not harm your horse

Quitt contains natural ingredients in a highly palatable alfalfa pellet that can be fed by itself or as a top dressing. As you feed Quitt, it's recommended that damaged wood be replaced and your horse be regularly exercised.
